Red Cross War Fund Call Made

Annual Drive for Same Amount of Money as Paid By Nation During 1944

The annual call for Red Cross War Funds will be made starting March 1. The nation has been called upon for the same amount of money as was set as the quota for 1944.

The quota for Randall county was $6,900 in 1944. This quota was more than subscribed as the people of the county wished to come to the assistance of this great humanitarian agency which is doing so much to assist the men and women in the armed services.

T. V. Reeves, county chairman for the drive, states that the same organization will be used in raising the funds this year. Those who served on his committee last year rendered splendid service, and covered the county in record time.

All major radio networks have contributed their time on Feb. 28 to the Red Cross drive, and splendid programs will be heard as the drive for war funds opens.

Lt. Graves Back Home After 70 Missions in Navy

Special to News: Marine Corps Air Depot, Miramar, Calif.—Marine First Lieutenant James B. Graves, 24, a fighter pilot, formerly of Canyon, Texas, has returned here from the South Pacific where he participated in 70 combat missions with the "Fighting Corsair" squadron of the First Marine Air Wing.

His wife, the former Ernestine L. Portillo, lives at Hayward, Calif. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Graves, reside at Modesto, Calif.

Operating from the Northern Solomons, Lt. Graves is credited with sinking several barges in Rabaul's Simpson Harbor. He also bombed and strafed airfield and gun emplacements in the Rabaul area. He related that the Japs threw up the heaviest anti-aircraft fire over Vunkunau, key air base at Rabaul. During a raid on Buka airfield in the Northern Solomons, his plane was hit by ack-ack but he escaped injury.

A graduate of the Canyon High School in 1939, Lt. Graves attended West Texas State College at Canyon for two years. He was an employee of the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, Burbank, Calif., before he entered flight training in August, 1942. He received his wings and commission at Corpus Christi, Texas, in June, 1943. He was promoted to his present rank in December of that year.

Many Citizens Are Rendering Property for '45

Many Randall county taxpayers have been coming to the office of Tax Assessor M. E. Cantrell for the purpose of rendering their property for 1945 taxes.

Owing to the gasoline and tire situation it is impossible for the Tax Assessor to send out deputies in order to secure the rendition of property. Practically all farmers come to Canyon to look after business during the week. They are asked to come to the office of Mr. Cantrell and list their property for the 1945 tax rolls.

Homestead exemptions are allowed by the state and county only in case the property is rendered and signed by the owner. Otherwise, the property owner is forced to pay on the full rendered value of the property.

Mrs. Thompson Is Only Woman Hardware Sec'y

MRS. C. L. THOMPSON
Mrs. C. L. Thompson, secretary of the Panhandle Hardware and Implement Association has mailed copies of the 36th Annual Convention program to all members of the association. The convention was scheduled to meet in Amarillo this week, but was postponed indefinitely because of ODT rulings against conventions which would be attended by 50 or more persons.

Mrs. Thompson is the only woman secretary of a hardware association in the nation. She closed her second year in this capacity.

The program was completed before ODT banned conventions. The printing of the 86-page program was nearly complete at that time, and the directors authorized that it be sent to the members, hoping that the convention could be held later in the year.

New Parking in Canyon in Effect

Parallel Parking For the Business Section Is in Effect Starting Yesterday

Canyon's new parking regulations became effective yesterday. Parallel parking was adopted for Fourth Avenue in consideration of a contract which was made with the State Highway Commission to take over the repairs and maintenance of parking on the highway running through Canyon.

The change of parking rules are especially effective to the shopping district, where parallel parking will be enforced under penalty of an ordinance passed last month by the City Commission.

Lines were painted on the pavement Tuesday night. When business men came to town yesterday morning they found three cars parked in violation of the new ordinance.

The city is warning all violators of the new parking ordinance, and then fines will be clamped on those who continue to violate the new ordinance.

The City Commission found that the city could save $2,500 by turning over to the State Highway Commission the maintenance of the paving through Canyon. In return, the state demanded the new system of parking in order that traffic congestion would be minimized through the business section of town.

Buffs Will Play Last Home Games at Burton Gym

The Buffalo basketball team will play Eastern New Mexico at Burton gym Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The Buffs have only three more home games before the close of the season. Two games will be played on Friday and Saturday nights of next week with the School of Mines of El Paso.

The Buffs dropped a game Tuesday night at Amarillo with the Amarillo Army Air Field 44-49. This was the third game with the Air Field, all of which were taken by the Field. The Amarillo aggregation is composed of star college and professional basketball men from over the nation. The Buffs have held them to three close decisions—one by a single point; one by 3 points and Tuesday night by 5 points. The Amarillo Field defeated the ranking service team in the nation last week.

The Buffs have one of the fastest teams that has ever been developed at West Texas State. Canyon citizens who have not seen the team are urged to see the last three games to be played at home this year.

He attended Demonstration High School and enlisted in the Navy in November, 1943.

Some Colder, But Continued Mild Over Panhandle

The Panhandle continues to enjoy fine spring weather in spite of the storms which have raged in the eastern part of the nation. The temperature has been ranging up to 50 to 60 degrees throughout the day.

A drop to 22 degrees came Monday. A high wind Tuesday reminded Panhandle citizens that spring weather may be on its way. However, little dust was in the air, and the temperature dropped to only 26 degrees yesterday morning.

Fog hung over the Panhandle at frequent intervals this week, but there was no moisture.

Oil Portraits of Former Matrons Are Presented

West Texas State College has presented to Cousins Hall within the last few years oil portraits of its two former matrons, Mrs. Marion Witt and Mrs. Agnes Smith. The present matron is Mrs. Anne Wofford, who is assisted by Mrs. Brown.

Cousins Hall was the first woman's dormitory erected on a teacher's college campus in Texas; it was opened in 1919 with Mrs. Marion Witt as matron. Mrs. Witt served until 1933, when, upon retirement, she was succeeded by Mrs. Agnes Smith of Amarillo. Members of the faculty and ex-students who remember Mrs. Witt recall her devotion to her work and the spontaneous affection she won from the girls with whom she worked.

At the 1944 Christmas Formal held in Cousins Hall, Dr. J. A. Hill presented the hall with a portrait of Mrs. Smith, who retired in 1944 after eleven years of service. In his dedication, President Hill expressed his appreciation of Mrs. Smith's unselfish loyalty to West Texas State and her genuine interest and love for girls in her charge. Mrs. Smith won from the girls in turn an admiration and respect that has made her influence felt in later years.

Both portraits hang on the wall in the office at Cousins Hall, a daily reminder of devoted, conscientious service to West Texas State and the academic aims of the college.

Ceiling Prices on Cattle Set

Regulations Are Announced By OPA State Office for All Who Handle Cattle

The regulation establishing ceiling prices on live cattle provides for an "over-riding" ceiling of $17.35 cwt. at Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and El Paso, according to J. B. Mooney, District Price Executive for the Office of Price Administration.

The rest of Texas is in Zone 7 with an "over-riding" ceiling price of $17.25 cwt. These prices are for top grade AA animals.

Packers are restricted as to the quantity of top grade animals they may slaughter, Mooney pointed out. In Zone C, which includes the major portion of Texas, only 50 per cent of their slaughter may be top grades. In Zone A, which includes all points west of Kermit and Ft. Stockton and south of New Mexico state border, 75 per cent of the total slaughter may be top grades. This percentage does not apply to calves, but to cattle only.

Mooney also explained that farmers and ranchmen who slaughter five or more cattle for sale, or who sell meat from animals that have been custom slaughtered for them, are subject to the provisions of the regulation placing live cattle under an "over-riding" ceiling. Cattle or calves sold for breeding purposes, and those sold by 4-H Club members, Future Farmers and members of other recognized farm youth organizations are exempt from the live stock ceiling.

Canyon citizens are interested in the hearing on air lines which is now in progress. Applications have been filed for three different feeder lines from Panhandle points into Amarillo. Canyon is included on two of the three applications.

The last application filed was by Roswell citizens, who seek to run feeder lines from several points in New Mexico, and include Hereford and Canyon. It is reported that TWA has filed a protest against this line. No other protests have been filed, but all lines are being considered on their merits.

Canyon is waiting the development of these hearings before taking action on a municipal air port.

Bond Quota for January Goes Over the Top

Randall county squeezed out the January quota of War Bonds, with a surplus of $28.50.

The quota for the month was $26,700. The sales amounted to $26,728.50. The county receives monthly credits for sales on payroll deductions, but these credits usually do not come to County Chairman R. H. Wright until about the middle of the month. The excess sales for January will be boosted when these credits are received.

The quota for February had not been received yesterday.

Anniversary of Scouts Observed

35th Anniversary of Scouting Will Be Observed During the Week of February 8 to 14

The 35th anniversary of Boy Scouts is being observed throughout the world the week of Feb. 8-14. Canyon Scouts will join in this observation.

In a message for the Boy Scouts of America on their 35th anniversary observance, Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of America and member of the International Scout Committee, says that he believes "Scouting can be a great force for world peace" and that the Scout program "does help to develop in individuals those qualities which make for cooperation."

Dr. West's anniversary message follows:

"Those of us who have been privileged to take part in World Scout Conference and Scout Jamborees, believe that Scouting can be a great force for world peace."

"We believe that Scouting does help to develop in individuals those qualities which make for cooperation, yes—for friendliness, for love of one another."

"The Axis Dictators abolished the Scout organizations and established their own youth societies. They tried to wipe Scouting out in the invaded countries. But the Scout organizations would not die and continued to do an effective job of training youth for constructive citizenship."

"Today more than three million Boy Scouts in over seventy lands are dedicated to the ideals of Scouting that will help them to become men of character, physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

Share-the-Ride More Essential Than Ever Before

"Share-the-ride is more than a patriotic slogan—it's a downright necessity," Ely Ponville, rationing executive of the Lubbock District Office of Price Administration, said today, advising that more effort must be made to conserve gasoline in this 71 county district.

The rationing executive appealed to the public to place more emphasis on the importance of ride-sharing, pointing to the good record of the 46 war plants in the Lubbock district which have an average of 2.87 riders per automobile.

"If the drivers who do not work in war plants could equal that record, the car-sharing program here would not only be successful but would be about the best in the entire country," Ponville said.

He reminded all motorists, at the same time, that the requirement that at least three riders share each car with the driver remains an essential qualification for those who seek home-to-work gasoline on the "B" ration book. For coupe owners, he said, two extra riders are a "must."

"Boards are not authorized to issue 'B' rations for home-to-work driving unless the driver has at least three riders besides himself, or a good reason why he hasn't," Ponville said. Both gasoline and automobiles are critically short and must be shared as much as possible."

HENRY OR JESSE

Henry Wallace will get his job as Secretary of Commerce, but Congress will first clip off the federal lending agencies which were centralized in this department under Jesse Jones.

In order to secure the confirmation of Wallace, the President was forced to agree that he would approve the George bill which seeks to divorce the centralization of lending powers in the Commerce department. This will give the President the secretary he wishes, but he will then have to appoint some man as head of the vast lending agencies who will be agreeable to the Senate.

Wallace turned out to be a much better sport than most politicians would have been. He is honest, but visionary; fanatically loyal to the administration, with his eye on the 1948 presidential nomination.

On the other hand, Jones is cold blooded in his actions, and wants to know that every dollar he puts out will be returned to the government. He has made money out of RFC and other agencies.

It is indicated that Wall Street bankers have their eyes on the vast government war properties which they want to buy for 10 cents on the dollar after the war. Jones would have been a distinct stumbling block to such transactions.

Wallace was favored by this group, since he likes to give money away. The nomination of Wallace is in cold storage until the George divorce bill is passed and approved by the President.

STOP EXECUTIVE ORDERS

It is rumored out of Washington that Congress will clip the powers of the President in issuing Executive Orders.

This is a method by which the President makes the law of the land without conferring with Congress, or even consulting his political advisers.

In time of war, especially fluid war like we now have, the Chief Executive must have powers to act in cases of emergency without having to wait on the will of Congress. But Congress and the people now feel that this emergency is rapidly passing. The thing which brings this question to a head is the realization that the President might hand over to Henry Wallace, by Executive Order, vast lending powers which Congress is now trying to divorce from the Commerce department.

Having seen the President skillfully side-step other bills which were passed by Congress, leaders now believe that it is time for a radical reduction of the powers of the President.

The gambling curse has hit college athletics as a New York basketball team pleads guilty to throwing a game for money. College authorities have carefully guarded against such things, and wholeheartedly disapprove of gambling on any and all games. Buying off players of college games is a new racket. Perhaps it has been tried before, but this case will be condemned by all college players who go out for athletics for the pleasure they get out of the games. Curbing gambling of any kind of games is next to impossible. Gambling is in the American blood stream, and it will bob up at the most unexpected places. There is no need to condemn sports just because a few of the thousands of splendid young men who engage in college sports fall to the temptors.

If we can believe what we hear, a revolution that is a revolution will be staged in Japan at the proper time. If these reports are correct, the head hunters will be at large when it is determined that the war is lost. The people of Japan have never wanted war, but are fanatically patriotic to their Emperor. The Emperor is ruled by the military; however the army and the navy never agree, being operated by different and opposing military factions. The picture is that when the people realize that Japan is whipped, they will turn on the Nazi sympathizers and the war lords in Japan with all the furor that they have ever displayed in battle. Perhaps the Big Three will not have a difficult job in dealing with the war criminals of Japan.

TOO MUCH PROPAGANDA

America has been fed too much propaganda during the war. Military authorities claim that America has not been told the truth about our losses, until forced to do so, while the supposed losses of our enemies have been played up and grossly exaggerated.

No wonder there was a let down in war production when we were assured throughout 1944 by military men, as well as government officials, that the war was just about over.

Just how many times Berlin has been wiped off the map, by propagandists, is hard to say. Yet Sunday it was announced that our bombers gave Berlin the worst punishment of the war.

Americans are not children. They do not need this continuous "shot in the arm" to keep going. America was fighting mad after Pearl Harbor and the fall of the Philippines. America went to work, and most any sort of legislation could have been passed that looked as if it might help the war. But our propagandists have worked over time on the home front to destroy any sense of feeling that there still remained many long months of hard work ahead.

WORK OR FIGHT

The House of Representatives passed the Work or Fight bill so that it would be administered by Selective Service. When the bill reached the Senate, the committee changed the provision, placing the administration under the President's adviser, Jimmie Byrnes. This is causing a row in Congress and will lead to the defeat of the bill if this provision is continued in the measure.

The gist of the whole thing is: "Will America be governed by military authority, or by civil authority?"

Military men of America have never sought to run the affairs of the nation, as they have in France, Germany, Poland, Japan, and other nations. Under our democratic form of government, the people are very fearful of such a hard fisted rule by such a strong minority group.

Selective Service has been doing a fine job of furnishing the necessary men to the armed forces. Men who are physically unqualified for military service will enter war work without much griping, if they are shown that they are actually needed. But the people generally do not want to see such harsh military rules imposed and directed by the military forces of the nation.

There is a good chance for some sort of limited compulsory military training after the war, but this bill will be killed, and promptly killed, if the military insists in taking over every phase of American life.

Bob Barker is dead. For 42 years Bob Barker has been connected with the legislature of Texas in various clerical capacities. He never ran for public office, although his friends have demanded at various times that he seek political offices. Uncle Bob was as much of a fixture as the Capitol dome. For more than 40 years he has watched the political procession. There has never been a member of either House whom he could not call by name, and with whom he was not thoroughly familiar. He knew the ins and outs of the legislative game. He had strong political opinions; but when he stood before the Senate to read a bill, or to call the roll, no member could tell by his expression or his action what sentiment he had, or whether he was interested in the measure. His favorite expression was one of amusement when a Senator voted opposite to Uncle Bob's wishes. "It sure busted my ear!" Yet no Senator was ever censured, or chided for the expression of his own opinion. Uncle Bob would do a good job of razing, but it was always in the spirit of helpfulness and good will. He could not have held on to his job so long without being a great, helpful man, who cared more for the esteem and respect of his fellow travelers than for the supremacy of his personal opinion. Peace to his ashes. He will not soon be forgotten by those with whom he worked.

When Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill sit down to trade, Stalin will have the biggest stack of chips, with Churchill the least. Stalin's bargaining power rests upon his ability to say yes or no as to the war with Japan; his ability to draw Russia into economic isolation in postwar; his ability to stir up trouble by giving the nod to left-wingers throughout Europe. Roosevelt has: postwar credits; materials for reconstruction; value of America friendship as a great military power. Churchill has nothing to offer but a bankrupt empire which he is sworn to hold together. Regardless of our past aversion to the Reds, now is a good time to be very friendly with Stalin.

Hitler experiments with robot bombs. It is reported that we have been doing a lot of experimenting, and are now ready for mass production whenever the military men feel that the time is right to use the bomb against Japan and Germany. Few people in America ever conceived of such means of destruction before this war started.

A STRONG WEEKLY PRESS

The Dallas News has done more to develop a strong weekly press than any great daily newspaper in the nation. The Dallas News is published by many men who graduated from the weekly field, and carried their friendship from the weekly to the daily. An example of how the Dallas News feels about the weekly follows:

A heartwarming sign that the civilization we have known so long is still hanging on is the weekly newspaper. It is holding its own. From 1938 to 1943, a very trying time for newspapers as well as people, only 454 of them went out of business. Maybe some of them became dailies. Maybe others boarded up for the duration. But there are still nearly 11,000 over the land, doing their bit for folks in the valleys and hills.

A few years ago there were those who forecast the death of the weekly. It could not withstand the radio. The drain to the city, the rush for defense jobs and call to arms would mean its doom. But the prophet did not know the small community. Neither did he know the love one develops for running a small newspaper. Even though the life is less glamorous than that on a metropolitan daily, it has its own deeply-rooted charms. It is hard to forget the hic-loc tune of the press on publication day. It is a rare experience to know that she is out again, to remove the forms, redistribute the type and mail her out to appreciative customers. It is a place where the back office is close to the front and the whole is diffused with an atmosphere that is hard to put behind and leave.

The little towns are still our strongholds. There we find devotion and affection for community life. Folks may be complacent at times, but they feel they are a part of their environment, not little saplings in a dense woodland. It is comforting to know that their institutions are still rooted, that they are weathering one of the great crises of history and will live to carry on a great heritage.

A state official is doing a dastardly thing, for pure political reasons. A Canyon mother received a letter of sympathy Thursday from this official. Her son had been wounded, to be sure, but here comes a letter from Austin announcing his death. The mother was prostrate with grief. The Red Cross immediately demanded from the official the source of his information, since direct word indicated the boy was getting along well. The feeble reply came that it was a stenographic error. In other words, it is indicated that this official, who is up for reelection next year, is sending out letters to bereaved parents whom he does not know or has never seen or heard of, for political reasons. The people of Texas do not appreciate such cheap politics, and should remember when election time rolls around.

A new rumor comes out of Berlin: The Germans are so afraid of what Stalin will do to Berlin, that Hitler is withdrawing his armies as rapidly as possible from the Western Front so as to allow Americans to take Berlin with only token resistance before the Reds can get there. The Germans feel that they will be treated better by Americans than by Russians. Just why Hitler will insist upon Germany being destroyed by our superior air forces, and the march on Berlin is something that no one can understand. However, the above rumor might not be a bad idea. The English are not for punishing Hitler as a war criminal, but putting him in prison for life. If Stalin captures Hitler, his life would not be worth a thin dime.

Regardless of the 1932 pledge not to bring back the saloon, and the crying need for war materials, the largest amount of liquor the nation has ever seen was drunk in 1944. It ran to $54 per capita—for every man, woman and child in the nation. The consumption of liquor in Washington, D. C. leads the nation. What about putting a big per cent of those engaged in the liquor business back into useful occupations?

Manila is in the hands of MacArthur. The Japs are following MacArthur's example by retreating to Bataan and Corregidor, the strongest fortresses of the Philippines. In such an event, MacArthur might simply leave sufficient guard to hold the prisoners, and bypass them as he has done with other great forces of Japs on other islands.

WE ARE WINNING THE WAR —BUT

Are the people of the United States being adroitly educated into the belief that they are no longer competent as individuals to manage their own affairs? Are there influences at work in our country, taking advantage of the war to sow the seeds of state socialism? There is a persistent effort being made to convince the people that wartime controls and restrictions must follow into the postwar era.

War brings not only the threat of an attacking enemy, but the danger of entrenched officialism which never willingly relaxes its grip.

The United States is the world's greatest example of the accomplishments of a free people, as contrasted with nations where governments have been in the drivers' seats.

When this war started, free enterprise in the United States was prepared to produce; the railroads were ready to transport; the electric power companies were ready to furnish power; the coal mines, the oil wells, the retail distributing system, agriculture, our automobile industry, all business was ready to go at the drop of a hat. American industry long had been producing on an efficient, competitive basis, as contrasted with the lethargy of government monopolies in foreign nations.

Mobilization and distribution of a nation's resources in wartime, including her sons and daughters, is one thing—but bureaucratic control of the industries and businesses of a free nation, and the substitution of political management and judgment for individual energy, intelligence and responsibility in peacetime, is another thing. The latter leads to the death of liberty as surely as the first prevents the encroachment of tyranny.

LOAFERS AND HOARDERS

The Mead Committee has made public glaring examples of loafing on the job and labor hoarding.

Stories of a similar nature from unofficial sources have long been common knowledge. Private citizens can recount from their own experience, disgraceful examples of deliberate loafing on war jobs. Many conscientious workers have quit war jobs because they could not stand the waste of time they were required to endure.

The answer to criticism of labor loafing and labor hoarding is always, "We have produced the goods!" That may be true, but at what a price! How much more could have been produced otherwise! We have now reached the point where both money and man-hours are growing scarcer. Let us hope that if the Mead Committee is not able to penalize or punish labor loafers or labor hoarders, that revelations which it can make will arouse the nation and shame the offenders into a correction of their ways.

In spite of all the racket down Austin way, and in spite of all the pressure used by various groups who are trying to dictate who shall be president of the University of Texas, it is confidentially expected that the appointees of the Governor will be approved this week. Action may be taken before this is printed. Whatever the results, the Board of Regents should be given a free hand to select the next president of the university, and not be mobbed by those who want their own personal opinions carried out.

Governor Stevenson has agreed to call a special session of the legislature to pass an appropriation bill for college buildings after the war is over and building materials are available. The legislature is confronted with many requests for buildings under the regular appropriations bill. But it is realized by all that such a bill would be meaningless without building materials. All colleges are looking toward post-war problems and post-war necessities. No one can now contemplate just what these may be. The Governor is correct on his stand.

In St. Louis there are 160 idle men who draw full pay for doing nothing. Union rules provide that every motion picture house must have at least two stage hands, regardless of the fact that there are no stages in such show places. But that is small unemployment in face of the large pool of men every war contractor holds, just in event of their need. The taxpayers are paying for these idle men. Before we go to radical about the manpower question, it might be well for the nation to utilize its idle forces.

BLIND JUSTICE

A critic of American business says that the War Labor Board must control Montgomery Ward or go out of business, at great peril to the winning of the war.

The musicians' union defied the War Labor Board and the President of the United States. It was rewarded financially instead of penalized, and the War Labor Board did not go out of business. The Musicians' union and Montgomery Ward could be wiped out and not a ripple made in the war activity.

It is difficult to understand why such procedure is countenanced in a land where all men are supposed to be equal in the eyes of the law. But the pressure increases each day for the passage of laws and their interpretation based on class privilege, rather than equal justice for all.

Lt. Guill Receives Bronze Star Award for Heroic Deeds

Boy Scout Week--February 8-14

"... On my honor I will do my best—to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law... To help other people at all times... To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight..."

That is the Oath of the Boy Scouts of America. It is an Oath they take seriously, one which they endeavor to stick to... and do. It's a good Oath. In a few simple words it embodies many of the finest principles taught in homes, in churches and in schools. These principles, as they are applied in the Scout's training, help to make the Boy Scout of today the outstanding citizen of tomorrow.

This year the week of February 8th to 14th will be known throughout the United States as BOY SCOUT WEEK. During the time Scouts and Scouting will be honored everywhere in the country. Pages similar to this will appear in newspapers in hundreds of communities as part of a nationwide effort to give the Boy Scouts of America the recognition and acclaim that is their due. It is the sincere wish of the firms who are sponsoring this announcement that, through it, the people of Canyon may become more fully conscious of the magnitude and importance of the Boy Scout Movement. It is an activity that deserves the wholehearted support and encouragement of every American citizen.

Rotary Club In Study of Proposed Military Training

Dr. Roy L. Johnson conducted a forum on the proposed compulsory military training measure which has been introduced in Congress.

Dr. Johnson has assembled a considerable amount of literature on both sides of the question. He read the nine principal reasons reasons which were advanced by those who approve the measure. He then read twelve points which he found that are made against the bill.

Each member of the club was asked to write one reason he finds in favor of the bill; and likewise, one reason in opposition to the bill. Dr. Johnson read some of these reasons, and will publish the balance in the next issue of the Canyon Rim, official publication of the Rotary Club.

A short period was devoted to questions regarding the measure. Some of the members are in favor of the bill; some are opposed to the bill; while a large number take the attitude that not sufficient information has been published on the measure to warrant an intelligent stand on the question.

Visitors were: W. B. Gunn, Bob Dorough, Arch Hunsley, John McCarty, Roy White, Jess Sanders, P. R. Barnes, all of Amarillo; Dr. Sam Archambeau, Dr. Boyd Stephens, Bob Lindsey, all of Borger.

Meeting Will Be Held Soon on Bangs Disease Among Cattle

A beginning was made in the program to control Bangs disease in cattle at a meeting of the Randall County Dairymen's Association in the County Agent's office Tuesday evening.

The plan of control being used by the Federal Veterinarians was explained to those present by County Agent W. H. Upchurch.

It was agreed that enough dairy herd owners are interested to justify starting the program in the county.

Arrangements were made for a meeting with the supervising veterinarian of this district, Dr. J. Guy Porter, for a more complete discussion of the program and the starting of the testing work.

This meeting will be held some time within the next week or so. Any and all cattle owners in Randall county who are interested in the control of Bangs disease are invited to hear Dr. Porter discuss the program.

Any one who is interested in this work will be notified of the time and place if they leave their name and address at the County Agent's office.

Freshman Class Members Supply First Assembly Program of '45

Reverend Findley Stresses Individual Religious Views

Freshmen of Canyon High presented the first assembly program of the new year last Friday.

Reverend Joseph Findley of the First Christian Church made a short talk about high school religion.

After J. Spencer Winn, president of the Student Congress, led the group in giving the Pledge of Allegiance, the program was turned over to Guy Brant who called one pupil from each class to determine which class is the most brilliant.

George Milford and Elmer Gene Mickey sang "In My Pink Pajamas" and "Maud the Kicking Mule." Rita Gunter, Martha Wilson, Thelma Bonds, and La Verne Hinders gave impersonations of how girls dress to come to school each day.

Betty Brown, Bonnie Drake, Nancy Wilson, and Louise Dickerson led the student body in a group of yells and concluded the program with the singing of the school song.

OH YEAH?

"Oh Yeah?"

How many times in the course of one short day we hear this curt, impolite expression! One who has these words on the tip of his tongue may not mean any offense by letting it slide off occasionally, but such a person is seldom appreciated. Even though one does not agree with the statements made by others, it is well to remember that everyone has a right to his own opinion.

Next time you want to question, "Oh Yeah?", stop long enough to consider the other person's views. He may have something worthwhile of which you have never before thought!

WASTED TIME

Are you one of the few people who sincerely want to be of aid to your fellow man? Or are you one of the countless thousands that love leisure more than earning an honest dollar by hard manual labor?

If you are one of the latter, don't you think it is time for you to start being of use to someone? God mean for men to work, for in the Bible He says, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread."

Every second wasted is shortening the usefulness of your life. Now, especially, you are needed to help the war effort, so pitch in and give

With Don Standley and Charles Taylor of the first string as high-point men, the Canyon Eagles lost by one point to the Hereford Whitefaces Tuesday, January 30. The Eagles surely did give Hereford a fight for their victory in which they kept close behind the opposing quintet until the third quarter in which the Eagles had a lead of 22-14. At the end of the game the score was 28-27 in Hereford's favor.

Six Sub-Freshman Projects Reveal Specialties of Gilmore's Students

Monkeys, dogs, horses, flowers, and airplanes were the subjects of the winning notebooks in the eighth grade English classes last week.

Mabel Ann Graham and Betty Jo Ponder were especially interested in fine roses, and their notebooks pictured twenty of the best varieties.

Wanda Jean Edwards listed twenty-four breeds of dogs and discussed each breed's origin and characteristics.

Emma Gene Zachry was interested in monkeys. Among the kinds she portrayed were the Spider, the Squirrel, and the Guereza, noted for its beautiful silky hair.

James Inman's notebook named many of the well known horses from nearby ranches, such as Matador, bred by the Matador Ranch; Kiowa, owned by J. H. Burson, Silverton, Texas; and San Dionisio, Grand Champion Palomino Stock Horse at Fort Worth in 1942.

Brown-eyed Miss Has Numerous Talents

Can you imagine Joyce Norrid, Supt. J. B. Speer's new secretary, a detective?

Well, don't try. This was only a childhood ambition due partly to the fact that her father is a lawyer; but it was never developed. This brown-eyed brunette from Matador is majoring in piano and her double minor is voice and violin. As soon as that "great day," graduation, arrives, she plans to teach music.

Being a typical WTSC co-ed, she has many favorites and the following are only a few of them. Her favorite song is "There Goes That Song Again." Favorite color is green, and chocolate cake is the food. Though her music takes up the greater part of her time, she has another hobby, which is dogs.

Mrs. Kate Donnell Brewster, English teacher in CHS, returned Sunday from a five day trip to College Station where she attended a Home-making Conference.

THOMPSON'S

Monodramatist Will Appear February 12

Second Lyceum Features Marjorie Moffett, Diseuse

Marjorie Moffett, beautiful, talented, attractive and brilliant diseuse, who has been acclaimed by critics as one of the finest solo actresses of this age, will appear on the campus of West Texas State February 12 as the second lyceum program of this semester. "A young artist whom I esteem as a genius. She lifts the monologue to the field of art," proclaimed the late Daniel Frohman.

Acknowledged before the war as one of our greatest impressionists, Marjorie Moffett has added greatly to her distinguished reputation with her beautiful and inimitable new war numbers—one on each of thirteen warring nations. Her programs are made up of numbers of exquisite art—some gay, some somber—some of such emotional depth, of such numbing intensity that they are unforgettable. All possess intellectual overtones which distinguish them. Although she holds no copyright on the monologue form of drama, she has done much for its development and holds a unique place in its history and influence. Marjorie Moffett plays with many people, whom she creates by magic, for they are all imaginary.

This one-woman show is now on a tour which will last for nearly three and a half months and will take her to over eighty cities. She will play as many performances, and in all she will work alone on a bare stage, which she illumines by her presence and which she peoples with imaginary characters so vividly that they become living beings.

Marjorie Moffett served her early apprenticeship in the famous stock company of Jessie Bonstelle, from which many of the greatest young actresses have come, and the list of stars and directors with whom she subsequently worked reads like a page from Who's Who in the Theatre. Her first book, "The One-Woman Show," was published a year ago. Daniel Frohman wrote the foreword for it and the book was dedicated to him.

Before entering the field of monodrama she had a wide stage experience with such stars as Margaret Anglin, Mary Boland, Jessie Bonstelle, Robert Mantell and Mrs. Fiske. She is distinguished by a versatility rare in our theatre, playing both comedy and tragedy with ease and sincerity. This season she presents many new and diverting sketches, in addition to those in which she scored such marked success.

We all miss grand old Will Rogers in these days of crisis. May we keep in mind his declaration that the United States has never lost a war or won a peace—and try to make the next settlement a different and a lasting one.

Probably the cowboy humorist's best known saying was based on his pride in the fact that he was partly of Indian ancestry: "My folks didn't come over on the Mayflower but they met the boat."

Or maybe it was his experience when he was going abroad and, in order to get a passport, he was called on for a birth certificate. He explained to the young lady clerk that, where he came from, being born was a sort of private affair and that if a man is here, that ought to be proof enough that he was born!

If the State is going to demand $1.75 for the right to vote, can you think of any reason why the deadline for paying the poll tax shouldn't be April 15 or May 1, rather than the present limit of January 31?

The citizen has just come out from under the Christmas rush, the start of a new business year, filling of an estimate on his income tax and paying his various city, county, state, school, road and water district taxes at that time.

But if the effective date of the poll tax were postponed until the sap began to rise and the dogwood began to bloom and the candidates began to announce; then the citizen would say, "I sure want to vote against that bird," and then would hurry down and pay his poll tax.

That way, more people would be qualified to vote and more poll taxes would be collected.

Zeke says, "Funny how life changes things. I remember when I was a little fellow and would wake up in the morning and my hair was all tangled and it hurt to comb it out—rats in your hair, the older folks would say. It's odd but I ain't never troubled that way no more—one reason may be that I'm bald-headed now."

CARE FOR YOUR CAR—FOR YOUR COUNTRY

When you read or hear postwar promises of fabulous motor car gasolines, or of astounding products of petroleum chemistry, recall the simple words of the headline above.

It has been said that the future is the fruit of the seed of the past. Little wonder, then, that intelligent men and women expect great postwar products from Phillips.

They record a triumph of Chemical research, engineering, and production. Add to them, Phillips grand-scale contribution to the making of butadiene for synthetic rubber, and they suggest how completely and completely Phillips is devoting itself to the war effort.

In the meantime, every time you see the Orange and Black Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refineries . . . in addition to producing gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils . . . are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

HOW BADLY do you need the money you'd get by cashing in that War Bond?

Bad enough to risk withdrawing your support . . . even momentarily . . . from the fight your soldier is in all the way up to his ringing ears?

Bad enough to risk prolonging the war by even so much as 30 thunderous seconds?

Bad enough to tamper dangerously with the life you've planned for your family and yourself when peace comes?

If you need the money that badly, Mister, okay.

But we hope you don't.

V-NEWS

Since cotton materials of good quality are so hard to find, many of us may find that both heavy flour sacks and feed sacks assume a portion of importance since they are usable for so many purposes. When properly bleached, and carefully made, they are especially serviceable for children's dresses and house dresses.

Several methods of bleaching have proved satisfactory. Perhaps the simplest is to soak the bag for several hours in a rich suds then wash it in a fresh, warm suds. If the printing is not completely removed, boil the bag in a heavy suds. Should the printing seem to be stubborn, soak in a solution of one tablespoon lye and one cup of kerosene to three gallons of water. Boiling in a fresh solution made in the same proportion will help produce cloth of gleaming whiteness. Occasionally the use of a commercial bleach may be required after other methods have been used.

Bags take dye readily making it possible to produce a variety of tints and shades suitable for any purpose.
